The historical contribution of Italy to the worldwide spread of Homeopathy

1821: Homeopathy arrives to the Kingdom of Naples and conquers some doctors of the Court: F. Romani and C. De' Horatiis. The Royal family supports Homeopathy.

▶ De' Horatiis saved the King from a severe heart disease and became his personale physician.

▶ 1824: first translation of “Organon” (II edition) by Bernardo Quaranta, archeologist, one of the discoverers of Pompei excavations

▶ 1825: first Italian translation of “Materia Medica Pura” by F. Romani

▶ F. Romani and C. De' Horatiis educated a number of doctors coming from all Europe in order to learn the «New Medical System»

▶ Naples: cradle of Homeopathy in Italy.

▶ One of the main educational centres for the rest of Italy and Europe.

▶ That's why we choose Sorrento: a symbolical returning home ...

C. De Horatiis

F. Romani

B. Quaranta

RATIONALE OF THE CONGRESS

- Bio-Medicine and the ancient paradigm of Similarity
- Similarity and the “personalized approach”:
  - Source of the so called “Complexity Medicine” as well as “Precision Medicine”
  - an ancient knowledge as a source of interest for physicians, students and researchers.
  - A methodology which cured millions of people in all continents.
  - New approaches which in their turn have generated discordant opinions even within the Homeopathic community.
- Core of the 74th LMHI Homeopathic World Congress: a dialectical comparison between Hahnemannian Tradition and Innovation. Evolution cannot do without its own origins.
- Similarity: object of criticism and prejudice. Obligation to defend and develop this paradigm without upsetting and misunderstanding it.
- Sorrento: a perfect location for such an important meeting
